

JEALOUSY

Jealousy,
Assuming they're good friends you thought it was different Initially

about a year
you two lost connection it's a recurring obsession her brand new fling

Wake up call you wish you just never knew Saw them twice
now starting to sense the gloom she ready, willing, able to share new sentiment with a stranger in the flesh

Jealousy
emotions a'peaking
no interest in keeping
still can't let go

same old sheets
the world is a bedroom the kids getting bored of each new fling

Jealousy
Just look what it brought here delusions accepted
so shakily